● Secretary Report -

I start with some sad news; many of you will remember Liz Alsop who died very suddenly in February. Liz was a great friend and instructor to a lot of BHRC members and will be greatly missed. BHRC will be sending representatives and flowers to her funeral on Monday.

Following a chance remark, a lengthy email conversation and a deep breath, BHRC have decided not to use certain arenas anymore. We have been kindly offered friends arenas in the past for training and had thought as it was members only, BRC insurance would cover us - we have since found out it is a 'grey area!' Obviously, we don't want to put friends, committee members or arena owners in the position of being sued on our behalf, so we won't be using some venues that we have used in the past.

Having said all that, we have a huge amount of events planned for this year already. We are holding our first (discounting 2020) one day camp. As with most things BHRC related, we are thinking outside the box and it is the brain child of committee members Sylvia Paine and Gloria Marshall. All details are below and we will hold more if it is popular.

Below is a lovely report from our great friend Ali Harris. Ali has worked incredibly hard with Sasha, who was not the easiest when Ali first got her and it is wonderful to see what progress they have made. And their progress could also take a different turn. Last year we tried my side saddle on Sasha and it fits beautifully, we just need a longer girth - watch this space!

What have you all been up to? Let me know for next time. Tricia x

● Members News -

Alison Harris and Sasha

On Saturday 10th February, Sasha and I went to Bicton College Unaffiliated dressage. I had entered both of the Intro classes. Our hard work is starting to pay off as we won both of our classes.

Sasha is such a lovely horse to deal with and we went on our own. A friend met us there and she kindly called the tests for me. I was so happy with our results. Upwards and onwards now. We are looking forward to the better weather and joining in on the riding club clinics

Kind regards, Ali and Sasha

● Helpers -

We have a huge amount of events booked for this year already. The first one is our Spring Show. Please contact either myself or Jill Perrior with your offers of help; it would be greatly appreciated.

● Spring Show -

Sunday 31st March at Heazle - schedule below

● Junior Rally -

We have a very special First Aid training day planned for the 12th April at 11am.

Catherine is a very experienced Equine Head nurse and has agreed to come along and give us a chat on Equine First Aid.

She is able to cover most topics but please come back to me, with anything you would particularly be interested in learning about.

Please can you RSVP so I have an idea of numbers?

This exciting event will be held at

Daresdown Tack Shop, Hockworthy, TA21 0NP

Please can I also remind you, to let me know what events, training etc you would like us to lay on for you this year. This is your club and we would like to put on events that interest you. Many thanks, Vicky
