● Monte's Diary -

Well, another few months have passed since our last update on Monte and since then we have had the arrival of Topaz at the yard just before Xmas. This completely turned Monte's world upside down - he hates change - and from the moment little Topaz (as he was then!) stepped off the lorry, Monte made it very clear he was not welcome by kicking his stable to pieces. Monte now lives in what can only be described as a padded cell as I have had to cover the walls with rubber matting to avoid further damage both to the walls and to him. Initially I gave Monte a fortnight off work to let him settle but it was soon clear when I started riding him again all was not well. He had been going so well, but now I had little more than a bucking bronco to ride and after four days of this, I decided enough was enough and I had him scoped for ulcers.

Ulcers had been something mentioned many times by many people but I didn't feel it was the issue with him and as it turned out, although he had had ulcers at some time (there was scarring) he didn't actually have any present at the moment. He has been put on medication to stop further damage and as it turned out he had the next couple of months off work as I was having trouble with my knee (which I injured last May) and I was unable to ride.

I brought him back to work at the beginning of March - there is only so long I cannot ride for without going insane - and he was very well behaved apart from his fear of the sheep! We are building up his confidence once again on this score and he is becoming more relaxed with the woolly pigs!

April saw us enter our first dressage competition at Star Andalusian Stud - a new venue for the riding club. Sadly not many of our members joined us, but it gave us an opportunity to try out the venue and it was perfect for Monte being so quiet. In all honesty, he wasn't ready for a competition as I hadn't been able to get him to trot down the centre line without an argument, let alone complete all the movements in a test, but just to get him between the boards and have him behave himself was all I was looking for. As it turned out, he completed 2 tests, didn't have any arguments and although we may not have had the greatest of scores I was pleased with him as he didn't throw any tantrums and I have to say a big thank you to Sylvia and Thomas for being so patient and helpful.

Monte has been with me a year now and it has taken all of this time to get to know him, but I really feel confident with him and I like to think there is a bond between us. I can't emphasise enough how slowly I am having to take things with him, but I know the rewards for time spent now, will be worth it in the long run.

Hoping to get him out to some training and the dressage league if all goes to plan, but you can never plan anything with horses! Kate

● Secretary Report -

Despite the continuing and frequent downpours, BHRC are up and running and nothing will dampen our spirits! Last weekend I popped along to Star

Andalusian Stud in Clayhidon to watch our show jumpers training with the wonderful Nicki Lumb. There are loads of photos on our Facebook page, thanks to Emma Pearce. They are amazing and Emma has plans to hold more training through the summer. Keep checking our 'events' page.

We held Members Only test event at the stud in April. This worked well but was not hugely well attended. Well done to Sylvia, Thomas, Kate and Monte Carlo for starting our dressage season off so well.

Our show jumping season starts this month. We have Clear Round and Mini Jumping on Saturday 20th May 2023 at Paddocks.

We also suggest you consider wearing a medical armband, especially for cross country training.

A rider wearing a ROYAL BLUE arm band is hard of hearing - BRC handbook

RED - Red ribbons signify a horse kicks.

GREEN - A green ribbon means that the horse is inexperienced.

BLUE - It is helpful for stallion handlers to put this colour ribbon in their horses' tail, especially if you have a mare as it warns you to stay away.
